Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

Wilson Duff was born on March 23, 1925. After serving in the Royal Canadian Air Force as a navigator, Duff attended the University of British Columbia and graduated with a B.A. in 1949. Two years later, in 1951, he completed his M.A. in Anthropology from the University of Washington. Duff's professional research concentrated primarily on the native cultures of the Northwest Coast and he was instrumental in the development of scholarship in this area. His influence on the study and appreciation of Northwest Coast art was also very profound as he inspired artistic work and in some ways was an artist himself, as evidenced by his poetry and the poetic nature of some of his writing.

In 1950, (prior to being awarded his M.A.) Duff was appointed Curator of Anthropology for the British Columbia Provincial Museum, a position he would hold until 1965. From 1960-1965 he directed the British Columbia Government Anthropology Program. In 1965 Duff left the Museum to become a professor of Anthropology in the Department of Anthropology and Sociology at the University of British Columbia. Throughout his career, Duff maintained a close association with museums and galleries, helping to plan buildings and exhibits, and he was involved in the early stages of planning of the new Museum of Anthropology at the University of British Columbia. Two major exhibits by Duff include "Arts of the Raven" shown at the Vancouver Art Gallery (1967) and "Images Stone B.C." (1975) shown locally in Vancouver and Victoria before travelling to art galleries across Canada.

Duff was active on a number of committees and he was a founding member of the British Columbia Museums Association where he served as Vice-president from 1962-1963 and as President from 1963-1965. Duff also served on the joint British Columbia Provincial Museum and University of British Columbia Totem Pole Preservation Committee that purchased and salvaged some of the last remaining poles in the Queen Charlotte Islands in the 1950's. In addition, he chaired the provincial government's Archaeological Sites Advisory Board from 1960-1966 and served on the provincial government's Indian Advisory Committee. During this time he led support for legislation to protect British Columbia's archaeological remains and worked on the draft of British Columbia's first "Archaeological and Historic Sites Protection Act" that was passed in 1960. In 1960 Duff acted as a consultant for the Kitwancool tribe and served as an expert witness in the Nishga land case before the B.C. Supreme Court in 1969. That same year, on behalf of the Alaska State Museum and the Smithsonian Institution, he surveyed the totem poles of southwest Alaska. Two years later, in 1971, Duff directed a project to record the history of southeast Alaska Indians for the Alaska State Museum.

Throughout his academic career, Wilson Duff wrote a number of articles, manuscripts and books. From 1950-1956 he was the editor of Anthropology in British Columbia and his first publication in 1953 was based on his Master's Thesis on the Upper Sto:lo Indians. Published articles and book reviews by Duff can be found in Anthropology in British Columbia no.1, 2, 3, 4, 5; The Crownsnest 9(3); Victoria Naturalist vols. 7, 8, 16(7); B.C. Historical Quarterly, July-October 1951; American Anthropologist vol.54, no.4; Canadian Art 11(2); Anthropology in British Columbia Memoir no.4; Western Museums Quarterly 1(3); Museum Round-up no.12, 16; Anthropologica vol. 6, no.1; B.C. Studies no.3, 19; and Northwest Anthropological Research Notes 3(2). Although many of Duff's manuscripts remain unpublished, a number of his books are considered to be foremost reference sources in their field. Such publications by Duff include: Thunderbird Park, Victoria B.C., (Government Travel Bureau, 1952), Selected List of Publications Pertaining to the Indians of British Columbia (with J.E.M. Kew, 1956); British Columbia Atlas of Resources (maps 12, 13a, 13b, 1956); Anthony Island, a Home of the Haidas (1957); Histories, territories and laws of the Kitwancool (1959); The Killer Whale Copper (A Chief's Memorial to His Son) (1960); Preserving British Columbia's Prehistory. Archaeological Sites Advisory Board (1961); Indian History of British Columbia: The Impact of the White Man (1965); Thoughts on the Nootka Canoe (1965); Arts of the Raven: Masterworks by the Northwest Coast Indians (1967); Indians before the arrival of the white men, the Indians after the arrival of the white men (1967); Indians of British Columbia: Selected Bibliography (1968); Totem Pole Survey of Southeastern Alaska (1969); Bibliography of Anthropology of B.C. (1973); and Images Stone B.C. Thirty Centuries of Northwest Coast Indian sculpture (1975). In 1996, Bird of paradox: the unpublished writings of Wilson Duff was published.

Wilson Duff died August 8, 1976 leaving behind his wife, Marion and his two children, Marnie and Tom. In 1981, "The World is as Sharp as a Knife: An Anthology in Honor of Wilson Duff" was published by the British Columbia Provincial Museum and contained essays, reminisces, artwork, and poetry celebrating Duff's accomplishments, research and friendships.

Custodial history

Wilson Duff's papers were donated to the Museum of Anthropology through a number of accessions. The first series of records came from his wife Marion Duff in 1977 while his son and daughter donated his remaining records between 1983 and 1985. In 2006, there was another donation made by Marnie Duff. This accrual was added to the fonds in 2010.

Scope and content

The Wilson Duff papers consist of textual records, photographs, negatives, slides, maps, audio recordings, compact disks and one video tape that relate to Duff's activities, correspondences, and publications as one of the foremost researchers in Northwest coast Indian history, culture and traditions. Also included in the fonds are records relating to Duff's work as an Anthropology professor at the University of British Columbia, his advisory and curatorial consultancy work, committee membership and the exhibit Images: Stone: B.C.

Notes

Title notes

Arrangement

The arrangement of the fonds has followed, as much as possible, the order in which the records arrived at the archives. This order may have been imposed by Duff as the creator, although it is possible that family members or Museum staff altered it prior to its arrival at the archives. The 1983 accession arrived in a limited discernable order, so some of the order has been imposed by the archivist. With the 2006 accrual, there were contents that fell into the pre-existing categories of Northwest Coast native research, Teaching materials, Correspondence, Published and unpublished articles, Personal records, Photographic records, Images: Stone: B.C., and Research notes and materials. Due to the nature of the papers, new Series were created to accommodate the expanded scope and content, including: Creative writing, Posthumous writings on Duff, Ephemera and Architectural plans. Although physically arranged as an accrual, the contents have been intellectually ordered to fit into the existing schema.

Alternative form available

A portion of the material in this fonds has been digitized and made available online here. Additionally, a virtual copy of Series 13 Tsimshian Files has been created by Professor Margaret Seguin Anderson, U.N.B.C. In May 2002, the archives received a draft copy of this work titled "Wilson Duff's Tsimshian File" which contains scanned copies of Duff's Tsimshian records on ten compact disks. The compact disks are accompanied by a file list and may be used by researchers in the archives.

Restrictions on access

Restrictions apply to a number of records in this fonds due to the sensitive nature of the subject matter. Restricted records are noted in the appropriate series description and are also highlighted in the Wilson Duff Series-Box list. The archivist must be consulted before any of these records can be disclosed and made accessible to researchers.

Conditions governing use

The Museum of Anthropology does not hold copyright for all of the records in the fonds, especially Duff's audio tapes and visual images. At the time of the original donation of the records, copyright did not need to be transferred, but changes to the Canadian copyright law have since set out more explicit requirements governing copyright ownership. Records with restricted use, i.e., undetermined copyright, have been noted in the Wilson Duff Series-Box list. Most of the original negatives for these are found at the Royal BC Museum; others have been found at the American Museum of Natural History. Please consult with these institutions to discuss copyright for use of these particular images.

Finding aids

See attached pdf document for finding aid with item level description and file lists.

Related material

Other public bodies with holdings of Duff records include the British Columbia Provincial Museum, UBC's Unisity Archives, and the Archaeology Laboratory, UBC. The British Columbia Archives and Records Service holds microfiche copies of the British Columbia Provincial Museum materials.

Accruals

Although no further accruals are expected, audio tapes, photographs and slides may be part of the archives backlog. A backlog inventory has been created and though no Duff records are apparent, they may still be inter-filed with other records.

Series 5: Northwest Coast research
Date: [195?]-[1976] (date of creation)
Scope and content: Series consists of materials Duff created and gathered on various Northwest Coast tribes including Haida, Tlingit, Tsimshian and Kwakiutl. The documents include handwritten notes, typed articles, correspondence and reference materials such as photographs from other museums, Photostats and reprints and originals of articles.
Physical description: 102 cm of textual records

Access points:

- Textual record (documentary form)
- Graphic material (documentary form)

Arrangement:

The files have been arranged in alphabetical order by name of region, person or museum with whom Duff corresponded, and then by subject. The title headings are those established by Duff except where there are square brackets []. The latter are based on contents of the files. The archivist decided on this order as it was not possible to determine, and therefore reconstitute, Duff's original order. A second accession was added in 1983, with the titles based on the contents of the file.

Alternative form available:

A large portion of this series has been digitized.

Restrictions on access:

Some records in this series are restricted. See box list for identification and consult archivist for access.

Subseries A: Binder photographs

Date: 1965 - 1976 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Sub-series consists of photographs, negatives, photocopies, postcards, cut-outs, drawings, and rubbings acquired by Duff. Images consist of views of wooden and panel pipes; boxes and chests; dishes, bowls, plates, spoons, and other household articles; coppers; chief's seats; coffins; carvings and poles; cloaks and blankets; bracelets; screens; masks and frontlets; paddles and canoes; and photos of Albert Edenshaw. Also included are textual records that describe the images.

Physical description: 849 photographs
b&w and col. ; 7 x 7-21 x 26 cm.

Arrangement:

The sub-series is arranged into seven binders. The photographs were originally housed behind plastic sheets in 8 loose-leaf binders; many were mounted with photographic corners. The materials were initially processed in 1977, to facilitate their use for teaching and research purposes. At that time, the pages of binders 1 to 7 were numbered, the artifacts on each page identified and recorded, and loose material mounted on added pages. Binder 8 was neither numbered nor listed.

It is assumed that this early processing preserved Duff's arrangement of the materials. Blank pages and mounting corners indicate that some photos are missing; but a 1977 listing of the materials suggests that this represented the order as received. Originally misplaced, binder 6 was rediscovered in May 1997 and processed in the description. The current inventory has maintained the existing, and presumed original, order of the remaining binders.

Subseries C: Slides

Date: 1953 - 1976 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Slides of artifacts, places, events, exhibits, air views, and unknown First Nations people. Also included are slides relating to museum history which show images of sketches and models for the new Museum of Anthropology, construction views, totem pole raising, the museum opening in 1976, and museum staff. Most of the slides were taken by Duff, although some were acquired from others or purchased. Accompanying textual material includes a letter about artifacts, slide lists from boxes, lists related to the centennial totem pole program, and a text of legends.

Physical description: 6,202 slides ; b&w and col. 35mm.

Access points:

- Graphic material (documentary form)

Arrangement:

The slides were originally processed in 1977, for teaching purposes. At the time, catalogue numbers, yellow numbering stickers, and location numbers were added to the slides. In the current inventory, it was found that this arrangement did not always conform to Duff's organization of the materials. Every attempt has been made to reconstruct his original order, by following the slide number totals, frame numbers and slot locations recorded on the indexes found in the cases. For a more detailed explanation of the ordering, see the case file.

Slides have been renumbered, in black or blue ink, using a 1-A-a-1 (i.e., case 1, row "A", section "a", slide #1) marking for cases 1, 2, 8, 15 and 19; or a 3-A-1 (i.e., case 3, row "A", slot 1) marking for cases 3-7, 9-14, 16-18 and 20-28. Slides that are labeled by Duff but do not appear on the indexes, and slides that appear (by date or content) to belong to Duff's material but cannot be placed in any determinable location, have been put into a miscellaneous file. Unless included in the total number of slides specified by Duff, or representing the only available copy, duplicates have been removed.

In August 2001 slides stored in the 28 original metal cases were removed and placed in individual slide cases and in hollinger boxes to ensure long-term preservation. At this time, the original order of the slides was maintained and noted. In July 2002, the remaining slides marked "Duplicate Slides Duff Collection" were checked with the processed and re-housed slides from the original 28 cases. These slides were confirmed as duplicate (sometimes triplicate) copies and were deaccessioned from the collection.

Subseries D: Photographs and pictostats I

Date: 1913-1976 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Photographs, pictostats and negatives showing images of canoes, fishing, coastal villages, and people. Some of the photographs were taken by Duff (as noted on the verso of the image) and brief descriptions and locations are noted on some of the photographs. Specified locations include Victoria, Alaska, Bella Coola and the B.C. coast. Also included in many of the files are faded black and white photocopies of the photographs.

Physical description: 294 photographs : b&w and col. ; 7x11.5 - 24x18 cm. ; 73 negatives : b&w and col. ; 35mm.

Arrangement:

These photographs, pictostats and negatives were part of a second accession of Duff records with no clear dates. The dates given above are from those noted on the photographs. The records have been arranged by related subject matter, although many folders appear to hold different sizes of the same images.

Conditions governing use:

Many of the photographs are stamped with "Centennial Museum, North Vancouver", "Provincial Museum, Victoria, B.C.", "Archives of B.C." (including an identification number) or have the stamp of a particular photographer or photography studio on the verso. It is unknown if Duff had these copies made for personal or research purposes and if he received permission to reproduce the images. It is unknown if MOA has copyright to these images, therefore researchers must contact the official repository of the image and ask for permission to reproduce it.

Subseries E: Photographs II

Date: [19-?], including some dated 1969 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Photographs depicting images of native masks, rattles, carved sticks, bowls, knives, wooden boxes, spoons, woven blankets, baskets, clothing and metal jewelry. Also included are photographs of totem poles.

Physical description: 372 photographs ; 322 photographs : b&w and col. ; 3 x 3-8 x 10.

Arrangement:

These photographs were found while processing records in the Archives backlog. Attached with the photographs were undated notes identifying the images as part of the Wilson Duff fonds. There are penciled annotations on the back of the photographs, purpose unknown. It is also unclear if Duff acquired these records for personal or professional research use. There are some duplicate photographs, but they have been kept in order to preserve the integrity of the sub-series.

Conditions governing use:

It is unclear if the museum has rights to reproduce these images. The majority of the photographs are stamped "Hickey + Robertson Photography" and include an address in Houston, Texas. Other photographs are stamped as copied from the National Museum of Canada. Researchers are therefore required to contact the photography company (or Canadian Museum of History) for permission to reproduce these images.

Series 10: Maps

Date: 1955 - 1976 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Maps created, acquired, and used by Duff in his research and teaching activities. The materials show geographical features; location and boundaries of territories and villages of Northwest coast native people; reserves; language families and distribution, influences, and historical features. Included are ms. maps; and copied, traced, outline and published maps, most with added ms. notations.

The Base maps sub-series consists of topographic maps produced as bases for the creation of other maps to show the locations and territorial boundaries of native people within British Columbia. Maps include ms. notations by Duff.

The Territory maps sub-series consists of ms. maps; and base, outline, copied and photocopied maps with ms. notations. Items show location and boundaries of native territories in British Columbia and the United States. Includes maps showing extent and detail of Tsimshian territory; Kispiox sites; Kitwancool territory and sites; South Kwakiutl territory, villages and tribes. Notations identify some place names and villages.

The Reserve maps sub-series consist of copied and published maps with ms. notations showing the location and extent of various reserves. Some acreage is also included.

The Miscellaneous Maps sub-series consists of published, copied and outline maps showing language families in North America, influences on British Columbia native people, historical distribution of native people in B.C., and Vancouver Island in the 19th century.

Physical description: 70 maps

Access points:

- Cartographic material (documentary form)

Physical condition:

70 maps: ink, pencil, applique and brown-line on paper, tracing paper and linen, most col. ;
17x17-137x 170 cm.

Arrangement:

No discernible original order existed at the time of processing, therefore, the materials have been arranged into sub-series based on their apparent use. While the creation of a few of the maps and some of the notations can be attributed to Duff, the responsibility for many ms. maps and ms. additions is unknown. The date of creation of most of the published maps acquired by Duff can be clearly identified, however, it is uncertain when these might actually have been used, or when the ms. notations might have been added. Accordingly, published maps with ms. notations have been recorded showing a span of dates, from the publication date to 1976.

Ms. notations on many maps follow a system of circular symbols used by Duff to indicate former villages, present villages, and non-Indian settlements. A legend for these markings can be found on Duff-CM-40 and Duff-CM-39. The materials were initially identified, in pencil, by "Duff" followed by an item number. Wherever possible, this earlier marking has been removed, but it remains on encapsulated items. To avoid confusion, maps processed during the creation of this finding aid have been labelled in pencil or black marker with "Duff-CM-" (for cartographic material), followed by an item number.

Immediate source of acquisition:

The Archives acquired these records in 1991 from Hilary Stewart and have been given the accession number MAN 1991-013. Further information regarding the custodial history of the series can be found in "Case File – Stewart, Hilary and Duff, W.: MAN 1991-013".

Restrictions on access:

Some records in this series are restricted. See box list for identification and consult archivist for access.

Conditions governing use:

Hilary Stewart, under contract to the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria took all of the black and photographs for the book written by Duff titled "Images: Stone: B.C.: Thirty Centuries of Northwest Coast Indian Sculpture". The colour photographs in the book were taken by a photographer working for the Vancouver Art Gallery who was not identified or later credited for his work in the publication. Duff later asked Stewart to take colour slides of the stone images to be used for lecture purposes. The slides are marked "not for publication" and the Museum of Anthropology has copyright to these images. Hilary Stewart has asked to be credited for her work.

Series 13: Tsimshian files

Date: 1915 - 1976, predominant 1959 - 1971 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Research notes compiled by Wilson Duff during his work on the Barbeau/Beynon material held at the National Museum of Canada (now Canadian Museum of History). This research, focused specifically on the Tsimshian culture, includes correspondence addressed to and/or written by Duff, files relating to the Nishga Land Claim of which Duff was involved as a witness, and typed manuscripts.

Physical description: 62 cm of textual records

Note:

Numeric notations found on the original file folders have been noted on a file list for this series and can be found in the “Wilson Duff - case file” and the “Duff Tsimshian Records” files held by the archivist. It is unclear as to who wrote these numbers and for what reference purpose they have.

Access points:

- Textual record (documentary form)
- Tsimshian (subject)

Arrangement:

Prior to their description in the Wilson Duff fonds, the Tsimshian files were described in the Marjorie Halpin fonds. The records were described in Series 6, Wilson Duff Files; Sub-series A: Research Files, 1915-1970 and Sub-series B: Miscellaneous Files, 1952-1976.

Alternative form available:

A large portion of this series was digitized by MOA staff in 2016 and 2017. Additionally, in May 2002, the archives received a draft copy of the “Virtual Duff Files” created by Dr. Margaret Sequin Anderson, Professor of First Nations Studies at the University of Northern British Columbia. Anderson’s project includes a digital copy of Duff’s Tsimshian files on ten compact disks and a synopsis of the history and uses of the Tsimshian files by scholars. Researchers can access this aid in the archives.

Conditions governing use:

Researchers are not permitted to make any copies from, or quote, the “Virtual Duff Files” without the express permission of Dr. Margaret Sequin Anderson.

Related material:

Related groups of records in different fonds: Related records on the subject of Tsimshian research can be found in the Marjorie Halpin fonds.
